

The benefits of on-site flu vaccinations.

The benefits of offering critical vaccinations at work are clear: easy access, no time lost, and a quick visit with a nurse, just steps away from one's desk.

Flu season spans 8 months (October-May) and accounts for 75 million days of work absence. On average, an employee who gets the flu will miss 3 days of work, and the treatment of the flu has a direct cost of more than $30 billion for medical care. Conducting an on-site flu clinic makes it quick and easy to get vaccinated, which in turns increases the likelihood that your team will get a flu shot and stay healthy and on the job.

For nearly 40 years, a core part of our business has been providing on-site flu shots, but other vaccinations are also available. Our process is detailed and comprehensive, leaving little for you to do other than pick a date and let your team know we're coming! For those who are remote or out of the office, we can usually offer a voucher, redeemable at many nationwide pharmacies.
